NEW PRESIDENT OF I. C. ROAD

Makes His First Tour Of Inspection Over Kentucky Line.

The new President of the Illinois Central railroad, Chas. H. Markham, made his first inspection tour over the road last week, passing through Hopkinsville without knowing that he had a brother here, John Markham, whom he had not heard from in 50 years.

Mr. Markham was born May 22, 1861, at Clarksville, Tenn. He received his education in the public schools of his native town. In 1881 he entered the employ of the Atchafalaya, Topeka & Santa Fe railroad as a section hand, and worked in that capacity for several months. He then became connected with the Southern Pacific railroad and rose rapidly in the service of this road.

In 1897 the Southern Pacific promoted Mr. Markham to be general freight and passenger agent of its Oregon lines, with headquarters at Portland. He was then made assistant freight traffic manager of the Southern Pacific at San Francisco. In this position he earned the reputation of being one of the best traffic men on the coast.

On December 1, 1901, he was elected vice-president of the Houston & Texas Central railway, and went to Houston to assume the duties of this office. While in that position he was the executive head of the Harriman lines in Texas, and became a close friend of Judge Lovett, then attorney for the system in Texas, and now head of the entire Harriman interests.

In 1904 Mr. Markham became general manager of the Southern Pacific at San Francisco, and was elected vice-president of the road the same year. In November, 1904, he severed his railroad connections to become general manager of the Guffy Petroleum company, with headquarters at Beaumont, Texas. He remained there until January 1, 1910, when he was elected president of the Gulf Pipe Line company, the Gulf Refining company and various allied companies. On December 20, 1910, he was elected president of the Illinois Central Railroad company to succeed J. T. Harahan.

MILTON OLIVER LEAVES STATE

Now a Citizen of Metropolis, Illinois, but Will Be Here Next Week.

WILL SUE HIS ENEMIES.

Chief Witness in Cases to Come Up For Trial On March 6.

Guarded by soldiers from Bowling Green, Milton Oliver, victim of night riders, accompanied by his family, passed through Paducah Monday enroute to Metropolis, Ill., where he will make his home. He will return to Hopkinsville to testify in the alleged night-rider cases which will come up at the present term of the Christian Circuit Court. It is also said Oliver will file suit for $50,000 damage against alleged night riders in the Federal court at Paducah.

Last May while Oliver was looking at Halley's comet he was shot from ambush and was in a serious condition for several days. He sold his farm for $4,000 to Jeff Keeney, of Cadiz. He was a member of the band that raided Hopkinsville and destroyed thousands of dollars' worth of property. He has been guarded by soldiers for several months.

Dr. David A. Amoss, reputed leader of the secret clan which terrorized this region during the tobacco war; Guy Dunning, former chief inspector of the Planters Tobacco Association; John Robinson, Newton Nichols, Irving Glass and J. B. Malone will face juries on the charge of participation in the sensational raid on Hopkinsville the night of Dec. 6, 1907, when two tobacco houses and other property valued at fifty thousand dollars were destroyed, two persons shot, a tobacco buyer dragged from his home and beaten, and residences where lights burned riddled with bullets.

The cases have twice been postponed. When first called, Milton Oliver, chief witness for the prosecution, was unable to appear, as he was suffering from a buckshot wound in his hip, an attempt having been made to assassinate him shortly after his confession before the grand jury. Illness of attorneys for the defense caused a continuance of the trials at the last term of court. Both sides now profess eagerness for the cases to be heard.

Oliver admits that he was formerly a member of the night rider band, but says he proposes now to tell the whole truth in the Hopkinsville trial, whatever the consequences may be.

Dr. Wiley, the national guardian of the public health, was married Monday to Miss Anna C. Kelton, at Washington. Now that he is in the midst of a honeymoon, the doctor should bear in mind that according to his own teachings all sorts of deadly germs are lurking in the vicinity of human lips, and oscula-tion, if indulged in at all, should be safely-guarded always by a mediated veil.

The Kentuckian is now appearing with a new heading of Century Bold, Condensed, which changes the appearance of the paper considerably and we think gives it a neater and more attractive heading. One advantage of the condensed letter is that the weather report can hereafter occupy the most prominent place in the paper, while on the other side will appear a gentle reminder that no subscriber can afford to overlook.

Forced to Leave Home.

Every year a large number of poor sufferers, whose lungs are poor and racked with coughs, are urged to go to another climate. But this is costly and not always sure. There's a better way. Let Dr. King's New Discovery cure you at home. "It cured me of lung trouble," writes
W. R. Nelson, of Calamine, Ark.,
"when all else failed and I gained 47 pounds in weight. It's surely the king of all cough and lung cures."
Thousands owe their lives and health to it. It's positively guaranteed for Coughs, Colds, LaGrippe, Asthma,
Croup—all throat and lung troubles.
50c & $1.00. Trial bottle free at all druggists.

Turkeys Burned.

New Orleans, The biggest amount of food ever condemned in this city in a single day was destroyed today at a local cold storage plant. Over 1,000 turkeys weighing 10,000 pounds, and valued at $3,000; about 100 geese and a large number of pork loins were burned by Chief Food Inspector White of the City
Board of Health.

Dr. White said he could not tell how long the turkeys and geese were in the cold storage, but that from their appearance some of them must have been there some years.

No Need to Stop Work.

When your doctor orders you to stop work, it staggers you. "I can't," you say. You know you are weak, run down and failing in health day by day, but you must work as long as you can stand. What you need is Electric Bitters to give tone,
strength, and vigor to your system,
to prevent breakdown and build you up. Don't be weak, sickly or ailing when Electric Bitters will benefit you from the first dose. Thousands bless them for their glorious health and strength. Try them. Every bottle is guaranteed to satisfy. Only 50c at all druggists.

FOLLOWED BUT
DIDN'T EGG HERNew York Gets its First Sensation From the Harem Skirt.

New York, Feb. 27.—Gotham had its first view of the harem skirt Saturday and the sensation was a profound one.

The special production dawned on a startled public on the Brooklyn bridge promenade. She was young, with blonde hair and blue eyes. She is reported to have worn a hat, although none of the hundreds questioned could swear positively to that.
They also realized in a vague way
that she wore a black fur coat, a blue skirt, or rather two skirts, one fore,
the other aft, and split on the right and left sides, the skirts reaching to just below the knees. And those garments, which broke up Bernstein's latest play in Paris, appeared below. All are unanimous about this fact.

Incidentally, she wore black silk stockings and black shoes. The—
the duplicate garments were secured around the ankle, just like those worn by the harem beauties of the Orient. The color was black. They were baggy.

Arriving at the Manhattan Terminal, the young woman carefully picked her way through the maze of trolley-car loops. Escape from instant death or accident were many,
as crowds of men, abandoning the trolley to their worst, gazed at the very newest style. By the time she reached Park Row the young woman had to fight her way through the crowd.

By the time she reached the postoffice there was as large a throng following as though she had been an international wedding. The mounted office squad men formed an escort and cleared the way as they marched to Broadway. All they needed was a brass band. At Fulton street the demonstrator of the latest hint from Paris turned and disappeared toward the Hudson Terminal.

The Kind You Have Always Bought

DOMESTIC DIPLOMACY

Joyce swung jauntily into the dining room, took from his wife's lips the usual peck and, seating himself at the table, was soon doing justice to the dainty meal she had prepared for him.
He kept up a stream of conversation
and was busy with a detailed description of how he had secured an order for his house in spite of the best efforts of a rival concern to land it, when it suddenly dawned upon him
that he was not getting the attention that his story merited. Then it crept into his mind that all his remarks had been answered in monosyllables.

"Are you sick, dear?" he asked his wife.

"No." The answer was brief enough.

"Worried about Johnnie again?"

"No."

Joyce began to think in earnest. In all the ten years of their married life
he had never known his wife to be so economical of words unless she had reached the stage where she was too angry to talk.

"Did things go wrong today, little woman?" he asked in his tenderest tone.

"Nothing went wrong today, thank you," freely.

Joyce knew now that the partner of his sorrows was really angry. Freezing politeness was a sure sign of anger
with his wife.

"Are you having trouble with the girl?"

"The girl is a jewel, Mr. Joyce."

"Then, if nothing is wrong, for the love of Mike, grin and show your teeth."

Joyce was getting nettled.

"I might grin and show my teeth till doomsday and you would not notice them."

"So," thought Joyce, "that's it, is it?"

Now he had the key to the situation!
Mrs. Joyce had bought a new gown, or some other thing, and he had not noticed it. Joyce's absent-mindedness was only equalled by his lack of observation. He had been badgered by his friends so much about his failings that he tried to keep all knowledge of them from his wife.

"So you thought I didn't notice it, did you, little girl?" he said, with an air of gallantry. "Well, when you catch Louie T. Joyce overlooking any bet-like that, just put it down in your diary
that he's asleep."

"But you never mentioned it," Mrs.
Joyce, though visibly mollified, was still a little vexed.

"Of course I didn't mention it.
Would you have me come in and shout
about it like a schoolboy?"

"N-o-o, but you might have said something about it. You might have let me know whether you liked it or not."

All this time Joyce had been looking his wife over to see if he could discover the new thing she had on, but her attire looked as usual to him.

He came out of his abstraction to hear his wife say: "Do you think it suits my complexion?"

Ah! Now he had it! It was her dress!

"That dress is just too corking for anything, dear. You know I always liked you in yellow; it sets off your brown eyes so well, and—"

"Always is a good word," his wife
cut in, "seeing that I have worn this dress for two years. But what has that got to do with it?"

"In bad again!" thought Joyce, mentally kicking himself.

"Well, it has really nothing to do with it, I suppose," he said, "but I'd like to know since when a fellow has been barred from complimenting his wife if she looks particularly sweet, just because she isn't wearing a new gown?"

The indignation in Joyce's voice was as strong as if he meant it.

"Oh, of course, dear," said his wife.
"I did not mean to offend you, but I was wondering if you'd like it with my light hair."

Joyce grabbed at the hint like the proverbial drowning man at a straw.
What an idiot he was not to have noticed that ribbon thing and buckle arrangement on her hair!

"Your hair, my dear, looks lovely, as I have often remarked, whether it is adorned or worn plain, but I think you ought to have another one for the—other side."

Joyce patted himself on the back for that clever speech.

"Louie Joyce!" His wife was surprised. He could see that. "What in the world could I do with another one,
and how in the name of common sense could I adorn my hair with it?"

Plainly Joyce was out of his depth.

"Of course, you dear little goose,"

he said, "I don't mean for you to wear it on your head, but I want you to have another one—or anything else
you want. So I'm going to write you out a check and you can go downtown tomorrow and spend the money."

"But, dear—" Mrs. Joyce began.

"Not another word about it! I am running this show. If I want my wife to spend a little money I guess
she can do it."

Then his wife put her arms around his neck and nestled her face against his as she said: "You wise old owl,
I was trying to surprise you, but it seems I never can."

"No, you can't fool papa," Joyce said. This very airily, while to himself he said: "Now, what in the world did she get?"

Meanwhile his wife, with her cheek pressed against his, was thinking: "I'm so glad he likes this new green rug
in the dining room."

A BOLD STEP

To overcome the well-grounded and reasonable objections of the more intelligent to the use of secret, medicinal compounds, Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., some time ago, decided to make a bold departure from the usual course pursued by the makers of put-up medicines for domestic use, and so has published broad-cast and openly to the whole world, a full and complete list of all the ingredients entering into the composition of his widely celebrated medicines.

Thus Dr. Pierce has taken his numerous patrons and patients into his full confidence. Thus too he has removed his medicines from among secret nostrums of doubtful merits and placed them in a class all by themselves by making them remedies OF KNOWN COMPOSITION. By this bold step Dr.
Pierce has shown that his formulas are of such excellence that he is not afraid to subject them to the fullest scrutiny.

Not only does the wrapper of every bottle of Dr.
Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, the famous medicine for weak stomach, torpid liver or biliousness and all catarrhal diseases wherever located,
have printed upon it in plain English, a full and complete list of all the ingredients composing it,
but a small book has been compiled from numerous standard medical works, of all the different schools of practice, containing very numerous extracts from the writings of leading practitioners of medicine, endorsing in the strongest possible terms, each and every ingredient contained in Dr. Pierce's medicines. One of these little books will be mailed free to any one sending address on postal card or by letter, to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., and requesting the same.

As made up by improved and exact processes, the "Favorite Prescription" is a most efficient remedy for regulating all the womanly functions, correcting displacements, as prolapsus, anteversion and retroversion, overcoming painful periods, toning up the nerves and bringing about a perfect state of health. Sold by all dealers in medicines.

TO DONATE BOULEVARD

Latest Story of the Plans of

T. Coleman Du Pont.

New York, Feb. 25.—T. Coleman du Pont, of Wilmington, Del., is in New York arranging with his lawyers here the deed of gift for one of the most unusual philanthropies on record. He plans to contribute $1,500,000 for a boulevard across the length of the State of Delaware,
from Claymont on the north to Selbyville on the south. The proposal when arranged in legal terms by the lawyers will at once be submitted to the Delaware Legislature.

According to Gen. du Pont's scheme, the proposed roadway will be one hundred feet wide and one hundred miles long. It will be given outright to the people of Delaware.
The only condition is that a majority of the members of the State Senate and Assembly shall consent to it.
The legislators first learned of the offer a few days ago.

So far as known this is the first offer of the kind ever made to any State in the union.

CARELESSLY ALLOWED

Witness Fees in Some Counties, Says Inspector

Frankfort, Ky., Feb. 26.—State Inspector Todd today filed in the executive department reports of inspections of county officers of Marion and Todd counties. He turned in $128.18 from the first named, and $50.92 from the second.

In the report on Marion county,
the Inspector criticizes the payment of witness claims, saying that in many instances fees were carelessly allowed witnesses for three days,
when, in fact, they were entitled to but one day.

Inspector Todd says this is true of many counties, and he will address a letter upon the subject to Circuit Clerks of the State.

A Smooth Skin

Black Heads, Chaps, Pimples, Sores and all unhealthy conditions of the skin are unsightly and detract from the looks. Buy a box of Dr. Bell's Antiseptic Salve, a creamy, snow white ointment, apply as directed and your skin will be as clear as a babe's. At all dealers in medicines.

Score One For Fatty.

Auburn, N. Y.—The claim that fat men are rarely found in prisons is substantiated by the records at Auburn. In a prison population of 1,400 there are not forty men weighing more than 250 pounds.

The physical distinction does not hold good, however, as regards female malefactors, for the women's prison contains more than the normal proportion of heavyweights.

Granulated Eye Lids

Do not need to be cauterized or scarified by a physician. Sutherland's Eagle Eye Salve is guaranteed to cure them without pain. It is harmless and a sure cure for granulated lids. 25c tubes at all dealers.

REDUCING HATPINS.

"I am glad to see that women are actually going to agitate the matter of the long hatpin," remarked the considerate girl. "I had two beautiful pins presented to me at Christmas and they protruded so far beyond my hat that I simply would not wear them until I had them fixed. I don't approve this idea of wearing a tip on the end of a pin. It wouldn't be pretty, and, besides, it would stick out in the same way the point does now. The simplest thing is to have the pins cut off until the manufacturers begin making shorter ones again. I had three inches cut off my pins at a cost of ten cents, and now
you can't see the ugly spikes at all."

HE WAS CHICKEN'S "FATHER"

Little Boy Was Determined to Protect
His Pet, Even if It Was a Great Nuisance.

I want to give you a story (true),
about a youngster in my neighborhood, which I consider good. It is as follows: Out of a brood of chickens was one poor little thing, with-but a few pin feathers. The six-year-old boy of the family made a pet of it. It would follow him all over the house, and all the sound
that ever came from it was "Peep, peep." It incidentally got into everyone's way, the members of the family falling and stumbling over it, and many a stifled oath was uttered by them. On this particular day the mother of the family fell over the chicken, and made the remark:
"Wish some one would do something to that chicken." The cook, who was standing near with butcher knife in hand, said: "I'll fix that chicken, mum!" picked it up by the neck and started for the kitchen door. The small boy appeared upon the scene at this time and overheard the remark, and this was his reply: "Well, I guess not! Guess I've got something to say about that chicken! I want you to understand I'm the father of that chicken."

200,000 TUBES

Of Sutherland's Eagle Eye Salve
were sold in 1908 and not one word of complaint, though every tube was sold under a positive guarantee. It is good for nothing but the eyes. Ask

COULDN'T UNDERSTAND.

"Can't make it out nohow," writes
Uncle Kitchel Pixley in the Shreveport (La.) Times. "Ye see, it was this way: Me and old Seth Beardsley was runnin' for constable and after I hears Colonel Roosevelt sail-in' into crooks, down at the depot
that time, I begins sailin' into Seth.
Course Seth hadn't no crooked record—hasn't had no record at all, except for chawing plug for forty years; but I paints him crooked 'n Sam Hill. Then our township gives him 139 more votes than it gives me.
Now, what's eatin' me is, what's the answer?"

There is Only One Pine-Tar
Honey

That is Dr. Bell's. It is the original and can be relied on in croup, coughs, colds and all lung and bronchial troubles. Look for the bell on the

ADVISES AGAINST RATS.

Dr. Everett Brownell of New York says that women will be bald if they do not quit wearing rats.
The heat generated by the weight, he says, destroys the cushion of fat under the scalp and kills the roots.
Women who are in the house all day are more likely to suffer than those who are out in the fresh air a great deal of the time.

SPECIAL GROUP OF RECIPES

Good to Know When Luncheon Has to Be Quickly Served Unexpected Visitors.

Oyster Cocktail Sauce.—Into one tablespoonful of tomato catsup stir the following: One-half tablespoonful each horseradish, Worcestershire sauce, mustard, vinegar; one tablespoonful of lemon juice, quarter teaspoonful tabasco sauce or red pepper, and salt. Serve cold.

Oriental Sandwiches.—These are delicious and should be served with tea. Cut the bread very thin and remove crust. Butter the bread, then spread one side with cream cheese and chopped dates and the other side with chopped peanuts and press together.

India Tapioca Pudding.—Two tablespoonfuls Indian meal soaked one hour in one-half pint of cold water, one-half cup tapioca soaked until soft in water. Bring to a boil one quart of milk and add Indian meal and tapioca and stir until it scalds. Take from stove and add two eggs beaten, one-half cup of sugar and two-thirds cup molasses, salt, cinnamon and ginger; one-quarter teaspoon each. Bake half hour, add one cup cold milk, bake two hours longer, and serve with whipped cream.

Oysters in Blankets.—Boil out squares of puff paste, put on each three oysters seasoned with butter, pepper and salt. Bring the four corners together and bake brown.

DOES AWAY WITH THE ODOR

Cooking Ventilator of Great Service When Onions or Cabbage Are on the Stove.

This ventilator is made of an old, large frying-pan—even one that is ready to be thrown away will do—by cutting out the bottom, as shown in the sketch, leaving four lugs. These lugs are bent up inside, the ventilator placed on the stove, the frying-pan placed inside and the cover put on. When cooking steak or onions, the odor and smoke will pass from the frying-pan with the draft and out through the chimney.—Popular Mechanics.

Spanish Ham.

A Spanish dish timely just now while cider is sweet has ham for a foundation. To one slice of ham, about a quarter of an inch in thickness, and the fat trimmed off, allow one sour apple, cut in eighths, one-half cup of sweet cider, one tablespoonful of butter and a level tablespoonful of bread crumbs. Brown the ham in the butter, and when one side is browned turn, and put in the apples, taking care not to break them, as they are to serve as a garnish. As soon as the ham is browned on both sides add the cider, cover and simmer ten minutes. Take up the ham and apple, dip a little cider over the ham to improve its appearance, put the bread crumbs in the remainder of the cider, beat thoroughly and pour over the ham. This is easy to cook in the chafing dish, and always find favor on a cold evening.

For Sunday Night Supper.

The little boneless herring that come in glasses are delicious for supper if they are soaked in cold water for an hour, washed through several waters and then drained dry and cooked in butter with a few drops of lemon juice. Persons who object to the smoky flavor find the herrings are much improved by the soaking. Rubbed to a paste with a little butter and a minced olive or two, the herring made delicious sandwiches. The unsalted pickles, liked so much by the Germans, are also favored as a mixture with the herring.

Walnut Bonbons.

Place in a saucepan one cupful of granulated sugar, one-half cupful of golden syrup and one-half cupful of water and a pinch of cream of tartar. Boil until it makes a firm ball when tested in cold water, then add one-half teaspoonful of vanilla and one-half cupful of English walnut meats chopped fine. Pour over the beaten white of one egg, and beat up until light. When it begins to harden drop on halved English walnuts and press a half nut on the top of each bonbon.

Fried Cabbage.

Cut the cabbage very fine on a slaw cutter if possible, salt and pepper, stir well and let stand five minutes. Have an iron kettle smoking hot, drop one tablespoonful lard into it, then the cabbage, stirring briskly until quite tender. Send to table immediately. One-half cup sweet cream and three tablespoonfuls vinegar, the vinegar added after the cream has been well stirred, and after taken from the stove is an agreeable change.

Feather Cake.

Cream together one tablespoon of butter and one cup of sugar, add one beaten egg, a cup of sweet milk and two cups of flour sifted with one teaspoon of cream of tartar; put one-half teaspoon soda in the milk before adding the flour. This is a very delicate cake without any frosting whatever.

HIS HEART'S DESIRE

Dr. Lambert waited expectantly, his face flushed, his whole attitude that of patience and gentle dignity. "Maddy, don't refuse. I've asked you to marry me since you wore short skirts and pig-tails."

"I'm sorry, Boyd, but it can't be. You know my ambition. The stage is my life. I never intend to marry," said Madeline Morris firmly.

"But you surely don't think of the aftermath—I mean when the time comes for you to give up your work. A career is all right for a few years, but in her heart of hearts a woman naturally desires a home and some one to love her."

"I don't," she declared, avoiding his eyes.

"You mean you think you don't," corrected Lambert.

"You dear old Boyd! Of course I can't make you understand. You men prate of superior reasoning powers, but you have to own up that women will ever remain an enigma. I just couldn't be contented back in Prairie City. I must have a wider horizon."

Quickly his glance took in every detail of her pleasant suite of rooms, one of the best that the hotel afforded—then traveled back to her.

"Maddy, so I must go home with another refusal. I had let myself dream of a different outcome. Your father will be grieved. Before I left, he came to me with tears in his eyes to bid me goodbye."

"Father has Margaret to look after him."

"Yes, and Margaret is good and kind, but you were always his pet."

"I get home twice a year to see him and then my salary helps wonderfully. Doctors haven't a reputation for being good business men. Father has thousands of dollars on his books that he will never get—"

"Maddy, I must be going. It is getting near my train time," he interrupted, rising. "If you ever change your mind remember that there is a heart and home waiting for you in Prairie City."

Madeline arose and extended her hand. "You are so very, very kind."

"Good-by, Maddy."

"Good-by."

He paused an instant after opening the door and gave her one long look. Then the door closed and he was gone. It had been six months since Boyd's visit when one night after the opening performance in Chicago, Madeline was handed a telegram. With trembling hands she tore open the yellow envelope and read:

"Madeline Morris, Olympic Theater—Your father very low. Come at once."

"BOYD."

The next morning she arrived in Prairie City. Margaret, looking tired and worried, met her at the train with old Daisy and the queer family surrey. After warm greetings, Margaret and Madeline drove home.

"Father had a very bad stroke of paralysis. He can't speak," Margaret whispered. "Boyd says that he won't live through the night."

They were nearing the old home—a big white house with an old-fashioned garden in front. On the porch steps they met Doctor Lambert, a trifle older looking than when Maddy had last seen him.

He paused for a few moments to exchange greetings.

"I'm in a hurry, Maddy. I have to go to the office, but I'll be back in a minute."

Margaret stood a short distance from Maddy during this brief conversation. The actress thought the expression in Margaret's eyes was unmistakable; her sister was in love with Boyd.

When Doctor Lambert returned Maddy went up to see her father. He was asleep. The pale, wan face startled her and her eyes filled suddenly.

Doctor Lambert brought her a chair. She sank into it and waited five minutes or more—it seemed ages before her father stirred, then opened his eyes. His gaze fastened itself immediately upon her. There came over his kind old face a look of unutterable joy as he made a motion that Boyd understood.

Reaching for a pad of paper and a pencil on the table, he handed them to Doctor Morris. In the meantime, Maddy had risen and was pressing kisses after kisses upon her father's cheek.

Slowly the pencil moved over the paper. It was such a painful effort. Then when it was finished he gave it to Maddy.

This was what she read:

"Dear Maddy: It gives me great, great joy to have you home. God bless you. My heart's desire—you know it—Boyd and I are waiting."

"Maddy, answer him quickly. You see his life hangs on a thread," Doctor Lambert advised, rather sternly.

"Wait!" she cried, her voice trembling.

"You must decide," Doctor Lambert almost commanded. "I love you, Maddy. You know it, then why do you wait?"

"Sister loves you," she faltered.

"Yes, like a brother," came his conclusive answer.

She knew that the most important moment of her life had come.

She turned. The light was slowly fading in her father's eyes. He scarcely breathed.

Doctor Lambert held out his arms to her. There was one last struggle with her ambition—then love triumphed.

"Yes, father, yes," she cried, hoarsely, her breath coming hard and fast in the excitement of her sudden decision. "I have loved him always."

CURRENT COMMENT

CREAM OF NEWS COMPILED AND COLLECTED FROM ALL SOURCES

The Kentuckian is always glad to have its esteemed neighbor, the Clarksville Leaf-Chronicle, draw upon it for news, but when it reproduces a scoop of national interest, like the Markham item, it would a little prefer that credit be given, and not have the item appropriated bodily as a grapevine special. Moreover, an item as interesting as the Capt. Cherry article taken from the same issue ought in common fairness to have been credited to the right paper.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

By local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by Catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.

Mr. Harris promised an especially good performance of "Boone," as a return compliment to the Eagles.

Chicago Woman Robbed of a Fortune in Fine Jewels.

New York, Feb. 28.—Mrs. Maid win Drummond, formerly Mrs. Marshall Field, Jr., of Chicago, was robbed of a fortune in jewels aboard a transatlantic liner. Diamonds, pearls and other gems to the value of approximately $130,000 disappeared mysteriously from her stateroom on the steamship Amerika, of the Hamburg-American line, sometime between 9:30 o'clock last evening and 5:30 o'clock this morning.

The loss was reported immediately. The liner docked at Hoboken this afternoon and police are working on the case. Mrs. Drummond hurried to the Hotel Plaza, declining to discuss her loss. The Hamburg-American line disclaims all responsibility on the ground that the passengers leave jewels in their staterooms at the owner's risk. To the police Mrs. Drummond described the missing jewels as follows:

Two strings of 273 pearls each. One string of 283 pearls. One large black pearl ring set with diamonds. One large white pearl ring set with diamonds. One pair large earrings set with diamonds. One black pearl brooch set with diamonds, with a black pearl pea-shaped pendant.

Drys Lose 10 Cities.

Under the Proctor law, enacted by the democrats at the present session of the Indiana legislature, giving cities the right to determine whether or not saloons shall be licensed, Marion, Kokomo, Rushville, Connersville, Decatur, Huntington, Walbush, Kendallville, Rome City and Vevay voted "wet" Tuesday. Two years ago most of these cities voted wet but were made dry by the votes of the county precincts.

Cities that voted to remain dry were Delphi, Tipton, Petersburg, Greencastle, Gas City and Noblesville.

A Splendid Tonic.

Cora, Ky.—Mrs. Iva Moore, of this place, says, "I was so weak, I could hardly walk. I tried Cardui, and was greatly relieved. It is a splendid tonic. I have recommended Cardui to many friends, who tried it with good results." Testimony like this comes unsolicited, from thousands of earnest women, who have been benefited by the timely use of that successful tonic medicine, Cardui. Purely vegetable, mild, but reliable, Cardui well merits its high place in the esteem of those who have tried it. It relieves women's pains, and strengthens weak women. It is certainly worth a trial. Your druggist sells Cardui.

Democratic Ticket For Councilmen.

We the undersigned candidates for councilman from the various wards in Hopkinsville, present to the Democratic voters of the city the following platform upon which we ask their support as follows:

We believe in government by the people, and that all officials should serve the people and their collective interests, and not serve their own personal and selfish purposes.

We believe that Democracy means honesty of purpose and loyalty to principle, and we further believe that the same principles of business should apply in the management of our city government as prevail in honestly conducted commercial lines.

We recognize that if the primary is a satisfactory plan to select councilmen, that it should also be a satisfactory plan to select the candidates for all other officials of the city government.

We further assert that since the city became Democratic in 1888, there has been no good reason why all officials from that time until now, should not have been selected by Democratic primaries, rather than by such methods as have been used.

We do not believe that the best interests of our city are subserved when one-man-rule exists in ward or in general city government, but that true Democracy means to accept and do the expressed will of the people.

We hereby affirm that we have not promised our support to any individual for office, or promised our support to any policy or corporation affecting our city government, and we further promise not to do so, leaving any and all good Democrats who may apply for positions to be treated with fairness and justice and stand upon their merits for consideration.

We believe that the police and all the officials selected by the council should be chosen for their fitness and not because of their support of some councilman in his ward.

We recommend to the Democrats of the city and to the committee representing them, to call a Democratic primary and select officials to fill the offices of clerk, attorney, assessor, treasurer and chief of police; and we hereby pledge our acceptance of such selection made by the people.

We stand for the honest and economical administration of our city's affairs and pledge ourselves to look to the advancement of our city commercially and morally, and to serve the public faithfully and honestly during our term of office, should we be selected.

We Often Follow Directions Notwithstanding We May Scoff at Results.

Everybody knows some old saying which few of us perhaps believe in our hearts. Yet, although we do not believe them, still we are interested in them, and as often as not follow the directions notwithstanding that we may scoff at the results. As for instance most people pick up a pin when they see it, but they do not cherish any hope of the action affecting their luck. When our ears burn we say some one is speaking of us; perchance we think we speak truly, probably we do not.

Here, however, are some other old-time sayings given for what they are worth. If you—

Drop a slice of bread or butter a hungry visitor will come.

Eat goose on Michaelmas day, you will have plenty of money throughout the coming year.

Pick an oak apple with a worm in it, you will be rich; with a fly in it, however, poverty must be yours.

Meet a man with a wooden leg, you may expect a surprise soon.

Break your apron string, your lover is thinking of you.

Have an irritation of the right foot, you will walk on strange ground with good results; your left foot having the opposite effect.

Break, says Woman's Life, your needle when sewing a garment, you will live to wear it out.

See a frog sitting on dry ground in the springtime, you will shed as many tears during the year as will make a pond large enough for it to swim in.

WONDER-FUL

The Good Young Man—Wonder if I dare?
The Good Young Woman—I wonder if he will?

WOMEN AS GARDENERS.

At a recent woman's congress, held in London, presided over by Lady Palmouth, it was pointed out that there are good openings in England for women gardeners. The college course is two years, and the girl must not be under twenty years of age. Where the old gardeners have been retired on pensions young women have taken their places. The kitchen and show gardens of these English places contain several acres of ground and it requires all the self-confidence the college course gives the girl to manage the undergardeners and helpers.

A CUMULATIVE TEST.

As the thin man and the stout man were talking of diet and food in general, the thin man said, "You can get an excellent dinner at Clapham's, the restaurant near my office, for 25 cents. Ever try one of his dinners?"

"One of 'em—yes, I should say I had," said the stout man. "Why, I ate four of 'em one day last week!" —Youth's Companion.

TOO MUCH FOR HIM.

"Can you spare me a moment of your time?" asked the man who began removing a prospectus from his inside pocket as he entered the office.

"Yes, sir," replied the gray-haired business man. "Have a chair and let me hear what your proposition is."

Then the caller fainted and it was necessary to remove him in an ambulance.

ADAMS--BOYD

Church Hill Merchant Weds Nebraska Girl.

Mr. J. Eli Adams and Miss Alice G. Boyd were married in Nashville at noon Tuesday. The marriage was not an elopement, but was given the romantic flavor of a trip to Nashville and a brief stay in that city. They will return this week.

Mr. Adams is manager of the store of his father, J. M. Adams, at Church Hill, and is an enterprising and successful young merchant and clever gentleman. His pretty bride is a daughter of the late Joshua Boyd, of Elm Creek, Neb., who has been here for several months on a visit to relatives.

Upon their return Mr. and Mrs. Adams will board at Mr. P. K. Redd's, 411 North Main street, and Mr. Adams will continue to look after his mercantile interests in the country.

IS HUMAN VACUUM CLEANER

Amanda's Economies in Line of Good Housekeeping Have a Screw Loose.

Long before the introduction of the vacuum cleaner Amanda had achieved by sheer persistence of arm, the energetic wielding of broom and brush, the precise results accomplished by this excellent invention. Her husband whimsically complains that the house is always in process of renovation and seldom is a condition which can be considered comfortable and livable, but he is a mere man and little can be expected of him. Of course, Amanda is ill from time to time, usually as the result of doing more than she ought. She has headaches, backaches and nerves that are on edge. Her sons slip out of the house in the evening because they prefer to be where they are not reproved if they draw a chair from its place or leave a newspaper on the floor. Her daughters enjoy visiting much more than staying at home, and her maid seldom remains longer than a week or two. She had nineteen successive maids in a single season. Somehow Amanda's economies in the line of good housekeeping have a screw loose. She observed one day that she sympathized with the women who liked to have her house perfectly ordered and who then wished that she could take her family and live in the barn so that the house need not be disturbed. Margaret E. Sangster, in Christian Herald.

INVISIBLE INDIANS.

All Indians seem to have learned a wonderful way of walking unseen—making themselves invisible like certain spiders, which, in case of alarm, caused for example by a bird alighting on the bush their webs are spread upon, immediately bounce themselves up and down on their elastic threads so rapidly that only a blur is visible. The wild Indian power of escaping observation, even where there is little or no cover to hide in, was probably slowly acquired in hard hunting and fighting lessons while trying to approach game, take enemies by surprise, or get safely away when compelled to retreat. And this experience transmitted through many generations seems at length to have become what is vaguely called instinct.—John Muir, in the Atlantic.

JOKE ON SECRETARY WILSON NEVER LOST ITS NOVELTY

Not Knowing French, He Joined in the Applause Given to Praise of Himself.

James Wilson, secretary of agriculture, knows pretty much all there is to know about trees, vegetables and soils; but he does not shine as a French scholar. Accordingly, he was at a disadvantage when he presided at a dinner at the Cosmos club, where many of the speeches were delivered in French. All the speakers were distinguished scientists, and they dwelt on subjects of an abstruse nature. Naturally, when their remarks were in French, they were puzzling to the secretary. Finally a particularly demonstrative Frenchman began to talk about fields and vineyards and how to improve them according to modern methods. He was applauded several times, and when he came to his peroration, which was full of long words and set off with many powerful gestures, the hand-clapping and cheering grew so boisterous that Mr. Wilson thought it incumbent on him to join in the demonstration of approval. As he got a late start in the hand-clapping, he was still at it when the rest of the assemblage had quieted down. "Do you know exactly what that fellow was saying?" asked a friend of the secretary, when the Frenchman had taken his seat. "No-o, not exactly," admitted Mr. Wilson; "but I applauded because everybody else was doing it, and I wanted to be polite." "He was saying," explained the friend, "that you were the best secretary of agriculture in the world."

Why Thomas Bailey Aldrich So Highly Valued His Letter From Professor S. E. Morse.

Dr. Edward Everett Hale used to tell of an amusing letter once sent by Thomas Bailey Aldrich to Prof. S. E. Morse, whose handwriting was very illegible, says Human Life. According to Doctor Hale, Mr. Aldrich wrote as follows:

"My Dear Morse: It was very pleasing to get your recent letter. Perhaps I should have been more pleased had I been able to decipher the same. I have not been able to master any of it beyond the date, which I knew, and the signature, which I guessed at. There is a singular and perpetual charm in a letter of yours; it never grows old, it never loses its novelty. One can say to one's self every morning: 'Here is that letter of Morse's I haven't read it yet. I think I'll take another ship at it today, and maybe I shall, in the course of a few months, be able to make out what it means by these t's that look like w's and those w's that have no eyebrows. Other letters are read and thrown away, but yours are kept forever—unread. One of them will last a reasonable man a lifetime. Admiringly yours, 'T. B. ALDRICH.'"

IT HAS COME TO THIS.

"What is an affinity, mother?"
"Hush, dear. Something not in the least proper."

ANCIENT CHURCH CUSTOMS.

In the age of witchcraft and superstition it was believed that the fairies built the old kirks in Glasgow and that they had a right to them; so said Mr. W. B. Paterson, lecturing before the Old Glasgow club. The accommodation afforded the parishioners was very different from the present luxurious age. There were no pews in Scottish kirks before the reign of Charles I. The people had to bring their stools with them and those that did not do this simply sat down on the floor. For the evening service parishioners likewise brought candlesticks and candles. On the question of the separation of the sexes Mr. Paterson mentioned the interesting fact that there still existed a church in the city where this rule was observed.—London Globe.

CONVENIENT OBTUSENESS.

A little Boston boy who has had a German nurse and a German governess since the time he could first toddle, and who speaks German as fluently as he does English, misbehaved himself the other day and was soundly scolded by his grandfather, who speaks no language but that of Boston. When, finally, there was a pause in the grandparental eloquence the boy looked up calmly and said: "Grandpa, I have not been able to understand you. You will have to speak to me in German."

FAITHFUL POSTAL WORKERS.

The government has no employees more faithful and none upon whose personal honesty more depends than the thousands of postmasters and postal clerks in our nearly 60,000 post offices. When one thinks of the countless letters in flimsy envelopes dropped into mail boxes and post offices, with no protection, except a two-cent stamp and a thin piece of paper, against the violation of secrets the exposure of which might ruin a business, one realizes how much depends on the personal integrity of those who handle the mails.

KNEW BETTER.

"Why do you waste your time lounging in the streets?" demanded the missionary-minded gentleman of the hobo. "Don't you know time is money?"

"Don't you believe it, boss," came the answer. "I've done time enough to be a millionaire."

She Broke Down Entirely.

Lantz, W. Va. — Mrs. T. H. Abbott, of this place, says: "I had been troubled with womanly ailments for some time, and at last I broke down entirely. I got so weak I could scarcely walk across the room. Thanks to Cardui, I improved right off. Now I do my housework, and am feeling well." During the past 50 years, more than a million women have been benefited by taking Cardui. You must believe that Cardui will help you, too, since it helped all these others. ### WITHOUT THE DOCTOR'S AID

Aunt Jane "Just Died by Herself," Before the Man of Medicine Had Arrived.

Like many of the older set of southern dinkies when the Civil war closed, Uncle Ephraim and his wife, Aunt Jane, as they were familiarly known, chose to remain with their former mistress rather than to try their fortunes elsewhere. Because of this fact Mrs. Smith was peculiarly attached to her former slaves and saw to it that they stood in need of none of the ordinary comforts of life. Sickness, however, had laid hold on Aunt Jane, and for days Ephraim had been kept away from the "Big House." Early one morning, upon opening the rear door of her home, Mrs. Smith saw Ephraim approaching. Knowing that Aunt Jane had been sick, she said: "Ephraim, how is Jane?" "Why, she's dead." "Ephraim, you don't say so; is she dead?" "Yes, yes'm; she's dead." "When did she die, Ephraim?" "She died about midnight last night." "Well, well, well—did the doctor get there before she died?" "No, m'm, she jes' died by herself."—National Monthly.

Gives Prompt Relief

William H. Douglas, Jr., of Washington, D. C. says: "I take great pleasure in informing you I have used Dr. Bell's Pine-Tar-Honey, and it gave me almost instant relief."

WOMAN'S LAUGH.

A woman has no natural grace more bewitching than a sweet laugh. It is like the sound of flutes on the water; it leaps from her heart in a clear, sparkling rill, and the heart that hears it feels as if bathed in the cool, exhilarating spring. How much we owe to that sweet laugh? It turns the prose of our life into poetry; it flings showers of sunshine over the darksome wood in which we are traveling; it touches with light our sleep, which is no more the image of death, but gemmed with dreams that are the shadow of immortality.

The Colds that Hang On

Are readily cured by Dr. Bell's Pine-Tar-Honey. It relieves the cold and stops the cough. There is only one genuine.

TROUSERS AND ROUND HATS.

The Quaker dress which Joseph Pease wore in parliament until his retirement in 1841 included knee breeches, for trousers were banned by the stricter members of that sect until the middle of the nineteenth century. Round hats, too, they regarded with disfavor for many years, and this objection was shared by John Wesley. These hats, which originated in France, were introduced into this country by some of the dandies about 1780. When the innovation began to spread among all classes, Wesley, who wore a wig and a cocked hat to the last, said in one of his "Conferences": "I do not like my preachers to wear round hats. They look too buckish."—London Chronicle.

WHEN GAS WAS HIGH.

The first incorporated gas company was the National Light and Heat company of England, established in 1809. In America the first gas company was incorporated in Baltimore in 1816, the second one in Boston in 1822 and the next one was the New York Gas Light company, incorporated in 1823. Prior to 1830 the gas business of this country was nominal, but the price probably was responsible for its slow development. From 1824 to 1828 the New York Gas Light company sold gas to consumers at the rate of $10 a thousand cubic feet.—Moody's Magazine.

HORSELESS AGE HASN'T COME

Despite Development of the Automobile, Horses and Mules Are Far From Being Displaced.

Something has been said at one time and another, half in jest and half in earnest, about the coming of the horseless age, when the self-propelled vehicle will have done away with the horse and mule altogether, incidentally doing away at the same time with the horse fly. The automobile has made a wonderful development in the past ten years, but it has not displaced the horse, and indications are that it will not do so for some time to come. The horse and mule breeders are reported as looking forward to an unprecedented year in their business. According to an estimate based on the amount of business done up to the present time, which shows an increase of 11 per cent. over the same period last season, 67,000 animals are expected to pass through the Atlanta, Ga., market in the year ending next August. The money value will amount to $12,000,000, and it is significant that this is quite a figure when applied to the automobile business, while it is only a small matter in the total horse and mule business of the country. The automobile is "going some," in more senses than one, but it has not yet displaced the horse and the mule.

NOT ALARMED.

"Do you think the armor plate of our warships is sufficient?" "Well, if it maintains the high quality of the samples we eat out of in this restaurant, I guess the nation's safe."

NOT THE KIND OF A CUR.

Several young men were standing before the desk in the Shirley hotel the other afternoon talking about dogs. One of them thought he'd bother the telephone girl by drawing her into discussion. She is pretty and good natured, but that afternoon she was very busy.

"Say, Bessie," said the young man, "what kind of dogs do you like?"

"The girl found time to say, 'Fox terriers.'"

"You do?"

"Yes, I'd just love to have a nice little fox terrier."

"Gee!" said the young man, "I'd like to be a little fox terrier."

"The girl smiled. 'You might not fill the bill,' she said."

"Why not?" he asked.

"Because," she replied, after answering a call, "I'd want one bright enough to be taught something."—Denver Post.

IMPORTANCE OF EXAMPLE.

Every life is a profession of faith, and exercises an inevitable and silent propaganda. As far as lies in its power, it tends to transform the universe and humanity into its own image. Thus we have all a cure of souls. Every man is the center of perpetual radiation like a luminous body; he is, as it were, a beacon which entices a ship upon the rocks, if it does not guide it into port. Every man is a priest, even involuntarily; his conduct is an unspoken sermon, which is forever preaching to others; but there are priests of Baal, of Moloch, and of all the false gods. Such is the high importance of example.—Amiel's Journal.

HEINE'S "VIRULENT WISDOM."

Heine, that snake of the Hebrew paradise, a "smooth-lipped serpent, surely high inspired," was never inspired more truly by the serpent's genius of virulent wisdom than when he uttered, in a most characteristic hiss of sarcasm, describing Musset before he had reached middle age as "a young man with a very fine career—behind him." Never was there a truer, as assuredly there never was a crueler witticism.—Swinburne's Miscellanies.

THE MARKHAM LOST BROTHERS

Item First Published in the Kentuckian Attracts Wide Attention.

BOTH HERE LAST WEEK

But Each Ignorant of The Existence of The Other.

The story of John T. Markham of this city, and Chas. H. Markham, of Chicago, first told in Tuesday's Kentuckian, is now going the rounds of the press and all of the big dailies are giving it much attention.

Chas. H. Markham, the President of the Illinois Central, was in Hopkinsville last Thursday night in entire ignorance of the presence, two squares away, in his boarding house, of a brother whom he had not seen in nearly 50 years, before he was old enough to remember him.

The Kentuckian has been unable to secure a photograph of the elder brother. In his modesty he refuses to be photographed for any purpose whatever.

John T. Markham was born in County Claire, Ireland, June 24, 1839, and served in the Confederate army under Gen. Tighman from March 1861 to May 1865, except for seven months following the battle of Fort Donelson in Feb. 1862, when he was a prisoner in Camp Douglas, Chicago. He says he has not been to Chicago since he was exchanged in September 1862, but may make a trip to that city in the near future to see his brother. Mr. Markham is now 72 years of age, and in robust health. He is of low stature, stoutly built, florid face, gray hair and moustache. His small blue eyes are set close together in a face bearing unmistakable evidence that he is of Irish descent. He wears usually a green necktie that suggests the Emerald Isle. Mr. Markham is a brick mason who has become an expert in his line. He is also a staunch Democrat who lived in South Christian for many years, but has made his home in this city for the last two years.

AMUSEMENTS

"CULHANE'S COMEDIANS"

The above really excellent stock company are drawing big crowds to the opera house this week. On Monday night the house held the largest crowd of the year and on Tuesday night a great big crowd were present in spite of the bad weather. Wednesday night the house is again crowded. The company is one of the best stock companies that has ever played Hopkinsville. The little star Margy Southwell has become a favorite. Every role she has essayed so far in the repertoire has gone straight home. She has a sweet personality that gets over the footlights. She has only been on the stage three years and has just passed her eighteenth birthday she is the daughter of Wm. E. Culhane and Christine H. Felix who were hands with our theaters twenty years ago. Culhane is the same clever fellow who, although he has passed the half century march can breeze in ahead of the other fellow while Mrs. H. Felix is just as clever as of old. Thursday night they will play "The Belle of Life" Friday night, "No Mother to Guide Her." Their feature play and on Saturday night, "A Draft on New York. For the Big Dime matinee Saturday, the great partial play, "For a Girl's Love." Arrangements are being made to take care of the biggest matinee crowd in the history of the house, as every one in town seems to have made up their mind to be there. The admission one dime and Miss Southwell being a wonderful magnet for the ladies.

The Daniel Boone Amusement Co.

will present the historical pioneer romance, "Daniel Boone on the Trail," at Holland's Opera House next Monday night, March 6. The story of Boone is a pure, sweet romance filled with a great something that is needed to weather the success of any dramatic production, and on the occasion of the above company's visit here they will doubtless be greeted with a packed house.

The Oratorical Contest.

(CONTRIBUTED)

The annual Western Kentucky Oratorical Contest, which was held in Princeton, last Friday night was a success in every possible way. Mr. Delbert Glenn, of Owensboro, with subject "Sincerity," carried off the honors and medal. There is no doubt that the judges' decision was just; although Rook, of Paducah, seemed to the audience to be an almost certain winner. His subject was "The Heritage of Tomorrow." His only weakness was his delivery, but this was hardly noticeable.

William Bailey, of Madisonville, it was rumored obtained second place, with "The Modern Benedict Arnold." Bailey was the youngest, and smallest contestant, wearing short trousers. His voice could hardly fill the hall. He had a fine speech. Stevens, of Princeton, was very good also.

The Hopkinsville delegation has no excuses to offer. Nobody will doubt that Jarrett, the representative, had the best speech, and by far the easiest delivery, but just a slip made him lose.

The most ungentlemanly conduct, and impolite behavior that has ever occurred in any of the contests yet held by the association was that of the Paducah delegation. They talked among themselves, while all the orators were speaking, except their own representative. It was purely ill breeding, or else utter disregard for the ethics of gentlemanly conduct. They went so far as to urge each other in their whispered conversation. This rude behavior was most noticeable during Mr. Glenn's speech. We certainly hope this conduct shall not occur again. This was the only rudeness displayed by any of the delegations.

The local school was weak in their rooting, while Paducah was the strongest. There were only twelve supporters to the winner of the contest. This shows that in spite of rooting a man may easily win.

A reception was given by the pupils of the Princeton High School, to the visitors immediately following the contest. A dance was also given in the Hotel Henretta's dining room, after the contest.

Everybody had a very enjoyable time, and it was one of the greatest days Princeton has had for a long time. The hotels were overflowed.

E. J. DUNCAN

Sells His Tailoring Business
To Harry G. Campbell.

Mr. Ed J. Duncan, the Seventh street tailor, has sold his tailoring business to Mr. Harry G. Campbell, Amarillo, Texas, who recently returned to Hopkinsville to live. Mr. Duncan has been in the tailoring business here for 15 years and occupies a prominent position in business and lodge circles. He is a Past Exalted Ruler of the Elks lodge and his friends are trying to induce him to accept the position of Superintendent of the Elks Home, which is soon to be filled by election. His health has become somewhat impaired and this place would be a pleasant one for him. Mr. Campbell is an old Hopkinsville boy, a son of Mr. Chas. L. Campbell, who is an experienced merchant tailor.

ELECTION BY PEOPLE FAILS

Choice of Senators Has Majority of 21 but Not Needed Two-Thirds

33 WERE AGAINST IT.

Borah Says That Matter Will Be Taken up Again in Next Congress.

Washington, Nov. 1.—The senate defeated the resolution proposing an amendment to the constitution so as to provide that Senators be elected by direct vote of the people.

A brave fight had been made by the supporters of the measure, and was indicated by the vote. Fifty-four senators stood for the resolution and thirty-three against it. Though this division showed so large a majority of the senate to favor popular elections, the number was not sufficient by four to carry the measure, which required a two-thirds vote for its success.

Senator Borah, who has led the advocates of popular elections, though disappointed in the result was not discouraged. On the contrary, he felt that the vote plainly indicated the growing popularity of the measure.

"The resolution will be again introduced at the first session of congress," he said, "regular or extraordinary, and urged unremittingly. The next congress in my judgment will pass favorably on the resolution." Senators Paynter and Bradley both voted aye.

ISSUES POOLED

And Ticket Formed Covering Six Wards of City.

Six Democratic candidates for Councilmen in as many wards, as the wards are at present divided, have issued a joint card and will pool their issues in the primary, which it is expected the Democratic committee will call some time between now and next fall. They call themselves the "Progressive Democratic Ticket," and their platform appears in the advertising columns of to-day's Kentuckian.

No Higher Magazines Postage

It was stated that as a part of arrangement, clearing up the Senate situation, it practically was agreed that the proposed rates on postage on the large magazine would be dropped from the postoffice bill, ending the possibility of a filibuster on the measure.
